The fusion press of the state is silent in large measure on the falling down of the state board in assessing the railroad property.

Although a careful analysis of the question at that time revealed the fact that the railroads would pay a larger percentage of the taxes in 1900 than they had ever before paid, yet the republican strategy board, assisted by a number of fusion editors who, too lazy to give the matter proper investigation jumped at conclusions and joined in the howl of the republican wolves, evidently succeeding in making the people believe that the fusion board in 1900 did perform its full duty.

The Independent believed that the assessment of 1900 was high enough when compared with the valuation of other property, and it held to that view. But the people seem to have thought differently and The Independent will accept their ultimatum.

The people believe that the railroad assessment was not high enough, and expressed their displeasure by electing republican state officers who promised relief. And how have these promises been fulfilled? Why, by reducing the valuation $44,000 on the identical property which the people said was assessed too low by the fusion board last year. It is plainly a case of out of the frying pan into the fire. How do you like it? And now will the Friend Telegraph, Rushville Recorder, Tekamah Herald, Norfolk News, Norfolk Journal, York City Journal, Alliance Times, Fork Times, and divers and sundry other republican papers, who howled themselves hoarse last year please step up to the rack and tell us what they think of the 1901 railroad assessment? In view of the fact that B. & M. stock is now selling at 200, there is much more reason for a raise in the assessment this year than there was last—but the republican board reduced the total $44,000. Come now! Look pleasant and take your medicine. What possible excuse have you to offer?

When the railroad assessment was up to Governor Savage, Treasurer Stuefer and Auditor Weston, they found that they were up against it and capitulated to the railroads—Adapted from the Omaha Bee of May 16, 1900.

And the republican state board of equalization headed by Governor Savage, has fixed the state assessment for all the railroad property in Nebraska for 1901 at $44,000 less than in 1900. Behold reform.—Adapted from Omaha Bee, May 18, 1900.

For fear that Treasurer Stuefer has forgotten about that quarter of a million of idle school money, the Bee again suggests that the public be taken into his confidence and informed if it is still deposited with the Omaha bankers who acted as his "committee" when he took charge of the office and who is getting the interest which is, or should be, accruing on it.—Patterned after editorials which appeared in the Omaha Bee frequently during Treasurer Meserve's term, but which apparently have lapsed into innocuous desuetude since the advent of a republican state treasurer. Why, Mr. Rosewater?

In the face of the notorious fact the railroads have added millions of dollars worth of terminal and roadbed improvements and in the face of the fact that their earnings have more than trebled within the past five years the sham reform officials have fixed railroad assessment for 1901 at $44,000 less than the figures for 1899 and 1900.—Adapted from the Omaha Bee of May 19, 1900.—Nebraska Independent.

Miss Inez Pettycrew kindly furnishes us the following report of the Epworth League convention held at Newport, recently, of which she was a delegate:

The Epworth League Convention which was held at Newport this year was a complete success. The delegates from the different Leagues were met at the depot by the reception committee and other Leaguers of Newport and from thence was escorted to the Methodist church.

The banner of welcome stretched from one side of Main street to the other, the red and white with which the store windows were decorated, the words "Cordial Welcome" and the League badge which was made of genuine and occupied a prominent place in the window of one of the banks and the artistic decorations of the church were emblematic of the sentiment of the Leaguers and the people of Newport.

Although each League was not represented by a full delegation still those present, owing to the cordial welcome and the hospitality of the Leaguers and people of Newport, passed the days pleasantly.

From the papers and discussions so nicely given and showing a great deal of forethought, a great many good points were gained, which will be beneficial in the furtherance of the cause of Christ by the League.

Through the welcome, the kindness and the hospitality of the Leaguers and the people of Newport, they won for themselves the admiration, the heartfelt gratitude and the best wishes of all present.

Sparks Chips.

Crops are looking fine, especially the small grain. The corn as a general thing is a little torn by the heavy wind, hail and rain of last week and some fields are quite weedy and need work badly. The rain in these parts was uncommonly heavy and hail accompanied same in some localities killing little pigs, chickens and ducks and doing such other damage as usually occurs at such times.

The village of Sparks and the surrounding community were greatly shocked last Friday morning about 8 o'clock as little Oscar Peterson came from one house to the other with a message announcing the very sudden death of Henry F. Barker, one of the oldest, most useful and highly respected citizens. We have known Mr. Barker for 14 years he being one of our first acquaintances after we landed in this country and have done quite an amount of business with him, served as constable under him for a term of years and always found him ready to advise and help in any way that assistance was needed. His dealing was always honest and honorable and his labor unceasing until the Great Ruler of the Universe, who doeth all things well, came to his relief and found him true to his word as he had told us that he expected to work till he died and his words came true for death must have struck him while he was milking a cow. He came into the house, sat down in a rocking chair and in a few seconds was dead. His funeral took place at Sparks, Sunday the 16th, conducted by Rev. Bruce. Twenty-four teams and several on horseback followed his remains from the residence to the church at Sparks where the funeral services were held. Rev. Bruce delivered a very able discourse, touching the life and character of our departed friend and neighbor. The procession from the church to the cemetery was one-fourth of a mile in length. His pall bearers were two comrades, James Culp and William Allen, four neighbors, Mathias Jelly, James H. Sears, George Bristol and George Shelborn, and we laid him to rest in his cold bed of mother earth in the Sparks cemetery in the presence of many sad hearts, weeping friends and heart broken relatives with whom we know how to sympathize. But let us leave him to rest from his labors in the hope of a glorious resurrection.
